Editorial

Lou Haddad who thinks he is Mayor of a healthy Seaside is giving himself credit for what has happened in Seaside since it was incorporated. He also is kind enough to share the credit with Urban Renewal which has been around in Seaside since 1959.

He also insults the residents and won't admit he is bankrupting the city taxpayers by stating in his report recently "Believe it or not, there are still people who question what uban renewal has done for Seaside."

Let's take his Statistics on his assessed values in 1958 when Joe Cota was mayor. He is giving Cota some credit because Cota is supposed to have thrwon the mayor's hat in the political ring. Haddad says the ssessed values were $14,000,000 in 1958 and now they are $26,000,000

Well, just normal real estate values and inflation could have doubled the assessed values. A home worth $9,000 in 1958, today is worth $18,000. So why is the mayor taking all the credit.

But "believe it or not" there are still people who don't question that the Federal Government has spent more than $28,000,000 in Urban Renewal since 1959. They know more than that of the assessed values. Isn't it amazing?

So what have the residents of Seaside gained? They are paying more property taxes and income taxes to the U.S. No relief is in sight if Haddad stays on.

In addition, Del Monte Heights has to pay back more than $700,000, the Gateway Center must pay another $1,700,000 in bonds. So one might say that colse to $30,000,000 will have been spent in Seaside since 1959. And that doesn't even include the interest.

Haddad reports that assessed valuations could go to $40,000,000 and taxes could go down for the residents-the worst kind of political poppycock. Each year automatic increases are given to all city employees, each year they increase presonnel. The management at city hall never says let us save, tighten our belts. They will spend ever cent; so much so that the city doesn't carry a healthy reserve.

But to quote a recent advertisement by a John Sayers, a friend of Mayor Haddad, Marina Investments in land in the same period of time have gone up 800 percent not 100 percent as in Seaside. Assessed values in Del Rey Oaks-a city of under 2000- went up also and they have no urban renewal; Monterey is up, too, in spite of urban renewal.

The only answer to the hogwash being swilled and swashed by Haddad is for everyone to read a speech given the other day to the Peninsula Board of Realtors by Adeline Di Lorenzo and printed in the Herald and in the News-Sentinel

Seaside Ripples

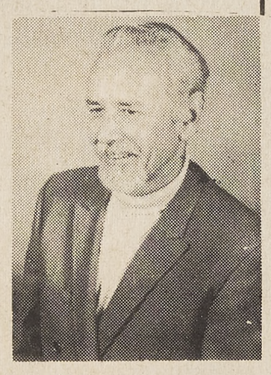
A. E. 'Andy' Barragan, Publisher



A.E. Barragan

Peace and prosperity-that is what we are all striving for. Every man and woman in this city, state and country wants to be able to live in peace with his neighbor, his family, his fellow citizens, his countrymen and with all of the other people of the world. I have never met anyone whose purpose in life is to make strife with his neighbor. Even the most belligerent of men doesn't really think deep down inside that he is creating strife. He merely thinks that his neighbor doesn't know hwat he is doing and he wants to set him straight. I don't think that there are any real "bad" people, only misinformed or ignorant people.

Some of these people think they know more than God himself and are trying to impose their "super-knowledge" on the rest of us. If we resist they get mad and start making, first, threats and then go into action which creates the strife they supposeldy are against. So you see why it is impossible to find anyone who is really in favor of stife. It is always the "other guy" who starts and it and then we have to finish it.

What I am trying to say is that every one of us has the responsibility within himself to prevent strife and to create love in its place. This cannot be done from the outside. It has to come from within each person through his own efforts. We cannot do anything about the "other guy". He has his own problems to solve.

I bring this subject up at this time because

Rubella Vaccination Is Urged

The Monterey County Health Department has reopened its special Monday Rubella (German Measles) clinics from 3:30-4:30 p.m. in both the Salinas and Monterey locations. The clinics are located at 1270 Natividad, Salinas and 1200 Aquajito, Monterey.

The regular immunization clinics, for adults and children, will continue as presently scheduled throughout the county.

Dr. Richard Fraser, Director of Public Health, stated "a renewed concern and effort is necessary to achieve an effective level of immunity to the disease among the children of the county. We estimate that more than half of the childen in the age group 5 through 11 remain unvaccinated. Because most infants and pre-school children now receive rubella vaccine as part of their routine immunization program, the current problem involves getting the older grade school children-ages 5 through 11- into the physicians' offices and clinics. This means approximately 10,000 more children need this protection."

Immunizing these youngsters will reduce the pool of infection and lessens the chance of a susceptible pregnant woman acquiring the disease. The last Rubella epidemic in this country produced almost 30,000 defective children born of mothers who had contracted the disease.

Conditions ranging from mild to severe included such problems as blindness, deafness and heart abnormalities.

The risk is of the order of 20 percent dead or deformed infants being born of women who got German measles in their first 3 months of pregnancy.

Public Health authorities predict the next epidemic will occur in 1971 or 1972.

Dr. Fraser noted, "Now we have the means to prevent a recurrence of that tragic harvest. Millions of children in the United States and elsewhere have now been vaccinated and we have good assurance that the vaccine is safe and late reactions to it are practically nil. Time may be running out, therefore, I urge parents to have their children, age 5 through 11, vaccinated against Rubella now, either at their family doctor's office or these health department clinics."

Bob Wood Reports

Some of you may have had your TV's turned on during the recent swearing-in ceremonies of the Governor in Sacramento on January 4. It was so cold here in Sacramento the morning of the ceremonies that there was still ice on the little puddles of water around the Capitol grounds, a result of the recent rains in the Sacramento Valley and throughout the State.

Being bald has never really bothered me very much but that was one morning I was a little jealous of some of these hairy brutes in the Legislature

I'll admit the brisk winds in our own Salinas Valley can freeze a man (even in July) when they roar in off Monterey Bay in late afternoon, but I swear I don't think it's as cold as a damp foggy morning in Sacramento when the sun can't penetrate the tule fog until late afternoon and then it's too late.

Those of you who happened to witness the program heard a handful of demonstrators who attempted to disrupt every part of the ceremony including the benediction and prayer by the Pastor Don Moomaw, former All-American football player from UCLA.

I personally think Don, a huge muscular man, (with neck muscles that remind me of a grand champion hereford bull) could probably have single-handedly annihilated all the male members of the disruptive group, but he, along with the Governor and other members of the group, kept their cool in spite of the fact I think Pastor Moomaw would have had the sympathies of all the other 2,000 or so people present had he chosen otherwise.

Only one orange was thrown (I'm sure it was a frozen orange) and it headed straight toward Mrs. Reinecke, wife of the Lt. Governor, who was sitting a seat or two in front of me and next to State Controller Hugh Flournoy. She saw it coming and quickly stood up and moved to the left. Hugh Flournoy also saw it coming and promptly put out his left hand and caught the orange before it hit the platform. Mrs. Reinecke returned to her seat, the demonstrator was promptly removed by the security police and the ceremony continuted as if the incident had never happened.

New Exhibit Now Showing at City Hall

Shirley Sullivan was introduced to watercolor by Nancy Johnson six years ago and has continued her training with other well-known local artists and work shops. She is an active member of the Pacific Grove Art Association and has exhibited her paintings in national, state and local juride shows.

Evaline Penpraze helped start the Peninsula Potters Co-op, after taking all the courses in sculpture and ceramics at M.P.C. In order to finance her own kiln and studio she left the Co-op to work for the Marzi-Monterey Pottery.

With this accomplished she volunteers her time and shares her equipment with the young people from the Pacific Grove "Off Campus" or the Community Center High School.

Roger and Sylvia Lovell-Cooper were born in England and completed their studies there.

As an Aircraft Design Engineer, Roger brought his family to California in 1966 He started sculpting in welded steel as a hobby the following year and it is now his full time occupation.

His sculpture displays an accuracy and detail in hands and faces not normally seen in this medium and he has won numerous awards in shows all over California and Nevada.

Sylvia has studied all branches of art, but is best known for her woven wall hangings, which have been widely exhibited and have won many member of Tapestry West. Her commissions include wall hangings for architects, designed and woven to compliment architectural features.

This four man show may be seen at the Seaside City Hall Monday through Friday 9 a.m. to noon and 1 to 5

Taxes From North County May Be Lost

North County Supervisor Warren Church announced recently that as much as $50,000 in state gasoline taxes may be lost annually by Monterey County due to improper coding of vehicle registration cards for automobiles owned by North County residents having Watsonville addresses.

Since the Watsonville Post Office is located in Santa Cruz County, this amount of money will be allocated to that County in 1971 unless Monterey County citizens insure that their residences are shown as Monterey County.

Supervisor Church urges all North County residents with Watsonville addresses to check with the clerk as the Department of Motor Vehicles Office at the time they obtain their 1971 vehicle registration tabs to be sure that the registrations are coded for Monterey County.

Monterey County is listed as 2700 under County Code on the registration forms and when the mailing address is in Santa Cruz County the proper coding is 4427. It is neccessary to check registration forms annually to insure proper coding.

The Department of Motor Vehicles will be glad to assist Monterey County residents in this matter.

Post Office Site Okayed

The Seaside city council last week finally decided on a site for the new post office.

The council voted to grant a use permit for the new building at Broadway and Terrace street. It will cost about $500,000.

The decision of the council ends several months of heated debate over the location.

Another site, the west side of Fremont Boulevard between LaSalle and Echo Avenues in the Gateway Redevelopment Project area, had some strong support.

The decision of the council reversed the city planning commission, which voted to reject both sites in December. The commissioners denied the permits on December 9 because the selection process had become a "political football."

The final action last week required two motions. One was to sustain the postal service's appeal concerning the site at Broadway and Terrace. This was followed by a motion to deny its appeal on the Fremont boulevard location.

Stephen Ross offered both motions.

Mayor Louis Haddad cast the only dissenting vote on the first motion and abstained on the second. All other council members approved both measures.

The real estate officer of the postal service, James Shultz, told the council that the site was acceptable to his office and that they were ready to go ahead with construction.

County Gets Cigarette Tax Revenue

State Controller Houston I. Flournoy has announced the distribution of $8,480,688 to counties and cities as the November apportionment of cigarette tax.

Monterey County received $11,040.16, and the City of Seaside got $12,728.99. The 58 counties' share was $1,627,988 and the cities' share totaled $6,852,700.

This distribution represents 30 percent of the revenue deposited in the Cigarette Tax Fund during the month of October 1970, less the State's administrative costs of $23,163.

Court Tells Farrell to Accept Recall Petitions Or to Show Cause Why Not

The Monterey County Superior Court ordered Seaside City Clerk Milton Farrell to accept the recall petitions presented him on December 31 or show cause why not.

The court action came as a result of a request by former Seaside city attorney Saul Weingarten on behalf of Bernard J. Dolan, president of Seaside Citizens for Good Government.

Dolan took the court action when Farrell earlier last week announced that he could not accept the petitions filed against city council members Stephen Ross, Pearl Carey, Oliver Murray and Gerald McGrath. The petition to recall Mayor Louis Haddad did not qualify because it was far short of the required number of signatures.

Farrell refused the petitions because he found defects in each of them which voided enough signatures to bring the total below the required 1,180 for each councilman.

In some cases, Farrell said, written statements by recall proponents and answers by those subject to recall had either been removed or had become detached from the signature lists. In other cases, the circulators of the petitions did not sign their lists with the required legal signatures--the ones used when they registered to vote.

However, Weingarten said that Farrell went too far in rejecting the petitions.

The attorney charged that Farrell refused to file the petitions on the day they were presented, that he refused to accept additional signatures presented the same day, retained the petitions himself and waited until January 6 to declare them unacceptable.

Weingarten pointed out that under the election code, the city clerk must accept petitions for filing if they have sufficient signatures or return them to the circulators for another 30 days if they do not.

He charged that Farrell examined the signatures for validity rather than just counting them. The examination can only be done after the petitions have been accepted for filing, said Weingarten.

By not accepting the additional signatures presented him, by keeping the petitions and by delaying his decision until January 6, Farrell, says Weingarten, denied the Seaside Citizens for Good Government the opportunity to get more signatures.

Farrell must either accept the petitions or show cause for refusal at a hearing tomorrow at 9:30 a.m.

Notice to All Aliens

The United States Immigration and Naturalization Service reminds all aliens in Northern California and Nevada that only two weeks remain in which non-citizens must file their annual address reports as requird by law.

Address report forms are available at the nearst Immigration and Naturalization Service office and at all Post Offices for the convenience of non-citizens required to report their addresses to the Government each January under a provision of the Immigration and Nationality Act of 1952.

The only non-citizens not required to report their addresses are persons in diplomatic status and foreign representatives of certain international organizations.

It is hoped that all persons subject to this law will go to the nearst Immigration and Naturalization Service office or Post Office and fill out an address report form before the January 31st deadline to avoid serious penalties.

Gilbert Boyer Will Appear In Concerts

"Piano Portraits," a series of five concerts by the noted pianist, Gilbert Boyer, will be presented in the Main Gallery of the Monterey Peninsula Museum of Art, 559 Pacific Street, Monterey, every Tuesday evening at 8 p.m. beginning January 26 through February 23.

The programs, which will be accompanied by a commentary, will be presented in an "in-the-round" setting to permit students the opportunity to study his technique.

Mr. Boyer is internationally know, having given concerts throughout Latin America and Europe, as well as the United States and Canada.

His post-graduate study has been with famous teachers such as the Brazilian Guiomar Novaes, the French Paul Dougereau (an associate of Ravel) and Egon Petri.

His repertoire will include the works of Latin American composers who are presonally known to him, as well as the European masters.

In addition to his appearances as soloist, Mr. Boyer has performed with chamber groups. In a series of lecture-concerts, he has performed all sixty-two solo piano works of Debussy and over one hundred of Chopin's major works.

The "Novedades" of Lisbon Portugal, reported on his appearance in May, 1970, "Gilbert Boyer, in his concert at the Conservatory here added another great triumph to the numerous ones he has already attained, not only in the United States but also in Latin America and Europe. In all the works on his program, he revealed himself a pianist of flawless technique, always showing even in the most diversified passages a high criterion of interpretation.

Tickets are $12.50 for the series with single concerts at $3.00. (Student or military are at half price--$6.25 for the series and $1.25 for single concerts.).

New Officers Are Elected

The three vice presidents are Jack Dougherty of Carmel Travel Agency; Dick Gifford, Monterey Peninsula Herald and Vernon Hurd, Holman's Department Store.

Re-elected as Treasurer was Robert Littlefield of Monterey Savings and Loan.

Sherrell Watson will continue to serve as Executive Vice President and General Manager.

The terms began on January 1. The Annual Dinner and Installation of Officers is scheduled for Tuesday evening, January 26, at the Del Monte Hyatt House.

Navy Buddies Finish School Together Again

Two Navy Lieutenant Commanders, who began kindergarten together more than 25 years ago, have done it again. Both were awarded master's degrees at the Naval Postgraduate School December 18.

Their names, Jerry M. Blesch and Robert L. Hicks, are different--but the following applies to both:

Married. Three children. Age 32. Began and completed school together at Ruth Moyer Grade School and Highlands High School at Ft. Thomas, Kentucky (1956); ditto, U.S. Naval Academy, Annapolis, Md. (1962).

Then, for a time, they split--to separate parts of the "destroyer Navy." Both attended Naval Destroyer School at Newport, Rhode Idland -- at different times -- and both became department heads of destroyers.

Now, they go separate ways again Blesch to the Bureau of Naval Personnel in Washington, D.C., Hicks to Cruiser-Destroyer Staff duty with Flotilla 12, homeported at Mayport, Florida.

Despite the similarities in educational backgrounds, the schoolmates have plenty of individual idenity as well. Their master's degrees reflect a disparity of academic interests. Blesch studied Human Resources Management and Hicks received a degree in Electrical Engineering.

In their new duties, Blesch will work with the Navy's "Ombudsman," Rear Admiral David H. Bagley, assisting in a position created recently to help solve some the Navy's personnel problems.

Hicks, on the other hand, will return to the operating Navy and will be the Surface Operations Officer for his flotilla.

Although the young officers have parted company again, they still haven't exhausted all the possibilities. If the Navy has a personnel specialty, it's training and using trained men And. there's still the Naval War Collega and Armed Forces Staff College. Furthermore, neither has his doctor's degree--yet.

Promoted

John R. Stanfield, son of Mrs. Myrtle L. Anderson of 655 Palm Avenue, Seaside, has been promoted to technical sergeant in the U.S. Air Force.

Sergeant Stanfield, a missile systems repairman, is assigned to a unit of the Strategic Air Command at McConnell AFB, Kansas.

UFM Needs Group Leaders

The University for Man, currently in the process of organizing its spring program, has issued a call for persons interested in leading workshops, discussion groups and seminars in "subjects in which they are knowledgeable."

A "free university" serving residents of both the Monterey Peninsula and Salinas area, the UFM is now prepared to offer instruction in some 17 fields of study, but hopes to list some 30 to 40 groups in its spring brochure, according to a spokesman.

Among groups already organized are: Yoga, Current Existential Thought, The Prison System, Politics '71, Bicycle Repair, Beginning Landscape Painting, Vegetarian Cooking, Organic Gardening, Folk Dancing, Surfing, Beginning Photography Leathercrafts and Folk Guitar.

Potential group leaders are urged to contact the UFM by phone (375-9821, Ext. 248) or mail (UFM, c/o Monterey Peninsula College, 980 Fremont, Monterey 93940).

Since copy for the brochure must be ready for the printer by January 20, all groups must be organized by that date.

Mobile Home Boom Is Predicted

The factory construction of modular living units is predicted to be the next boom in the mobile housing industry.

About 40 housing companies--most of them large corporations--are getting into factory housing construction, according to a Bank of America report.

The report was released recently by Regional Vice President James. B. Wiesler, who is in charge of all bank branches in Monterey, San Benito, Santa Clara and Santa Cruz counties.

The latest issue of The Small Business Reporter notes that no company has yet found a production and marketing method capable of turning out homes that will cost less than conventionally built houses.

"The few companies that are now in production are having to overcome the problems and expense of selling these units in sufficient quantities to support assembly line production.

"There is no established sales network for modular housing; manufacturers have been experimenting with a great variety of marketing and promotional channels."

Consumer demand has boosted production of both mobile homes and recreational vehicles by about 20 per cent annually in the past ten years, the report said, adding:

"The production of mobile homes and recreational vehicles during the next decade has been predicted to increase between 9 and 15 per cent annually."

Single copies of the report may be obtained free from any Bank of America branch, according to Wiesler.

Pollution Amendment Is Passed

Senate-House conferees recently agreed to the Cranston Amendment to the clean air bill to permit California to continue stringent controls over the contents of motor fuels and the use of fuel additives.

The bill, which sets national pollution control standards and gives Detroit a January 1, 1975 deadline to market a virtually pollution-free car, is expected to get rapid approval by the full Congress and be signed into law by the President.

As originally drawn up, however, the National Air Quality Standards Act would have knocked out California laws regulating such things as the lead content and volatility of auto fuel by pre-empting these areas for the federal government.

Senator Alan Cranston, in a letter sent to Senator Edmund S. Muskie and each member of the conference committee on December 2, pleaded California's "extraordinary, indeed unique, air pollution problems" and asked that the state be granted special exemption to write its own laws. Muskie is chairman of the Air and Water Pollution Subcommittee which authored the bill.

Under the Cranston Amendment as approved by the conferees, California authorities can take tougher action on motor fuel and additives without having to get prior approval in Washington.

Following the favorable conference committee action on his amendment, Cranston sent out another letter, this time to all 38 members of the California Congressional delegation urging them "to oppose any effort to delete this amendment when it is considered on the House floor."

"Although the clean air bill is being heralded as probably the strongest air pollution control bill ever considered by Congress," Cranston wrote, "California's standards are considerably more stringent than those proposed by the conference bill.

"Fuel corporations, the automobile industry and others who may not want to see more stringent fuel regulations enforced in California than in the rest of the nation, may oppose this amendment," he said. "I believe it is vitally important that the California exemption be retained in the bill so that California can continue its leadership in the fight to control air pollution."

Cranston scored another victory on the matter of pollution control over used commerical vehicles and vessels. The original bill had sought to pre-empt these areas too for federal control and Cranston had again sought exemption for California's tougher standards.

"I asked each of the conferees to enact an amendment which would save California's laws from these pre-emptive provisions," Cranston wrote California Congressmen, "but the conferees went a step further and entirely eliminated the pre-emptive sections covering vessels and (used) commercial vehicles."

New private and commercial vehicles will continue to be exempted from federal regulations under the Murphy Amendment, introduced by Senator George Murphy in 1967.

In his letter to Muskie explaining the "extraordinary pollution problems (that) still exist in California," Cranston pointed out that nine smog alerts were declared in the area in any year since 1960.

"In the last two years, California has enacted various regulations to control the contents of motor vehicle fuels to reduce air pollution," Cranston noted. "The California State Legislature in 1968 adopted standards regulating the volatility of fuels to reduce carbon emissions and recently, the California Air Resources Board has adopted standards regulating lead content."

"Careful studies by the California State Legislature and executive department have concluded that these controls are necessary to protect the health and safety of the California citizenry and to protect trees, shrubs and other elements of the ecology from deterioration," Cranston said.

Your Social Security

By: Raymond MacDonald

Q. Three months ago, I had a heart attack and had to quit working. I am 48 years old and I don't know when, if ever, I will be able to go back to work. I have worked many years under Social Security. Am I eligible to file for disability benefits?

A. You should contact the Social Security office as soon as possible and file your application for monthly Social Security benefits. If your illness it such that it will prevent you from working for at least one year, you may be eligible for these benefits until you are able to go back to work. An application should be filed as soon as possible to prevent any loss of benefits to you. If you can't get to the Social Security office write or phone and a representative will come to see you.

Q. What's the reason Social Security beneficiary has to lose benefits if his earnings exceed $1,680. a year?

A. The basic idea in Social Security is that benefits are intended to replace lost earnings. Thus, when a beneficiary's earnings exceed a certain amount, his Social Security benefits are reduced. The exact cut in benefits depends on the amount of excess earnings and also whether there are months the beneficiary did not earn over $140 as an employee or render substantial services as a self-employed person. The earnings test applies to all beneficiaries -- child or adult -- with the exception of persons age 72 or older.

Seaside Ripples

I think that the city and the people of Seaside have been subjected to enough strife in the last few months by those whou would impose their will on others. I think that it is about time to back up and have a look at ourselves and try to find a solution to the problems that have been created. A solution that everyone can live and prosper with. That is all we can ask for. Does each of us have the courage to face up to such a solution. We can try.

Here is a passage that I picked up in a Unity magazine article by Russell E. Smith which brought me to this type of thinking:

"We are entering the new age heralded by prophets from centuries past. There are evidences of this new-age consciousness all around us, as the old ways of the world are yielding to new concepts and new values. The difficult experiences that mankind has been passing through in this century have awakened the whole world to a new look at attitudes, disciplines, purpose, and goals. The honest efforts of world leaders to correct old errors could result in the new world order of government that has been the dream of mankind since the caveman first threw a stone at his neighbor.

Is this enough? Can our world leaders do it all?

Treaties, nonproliferation pacts, disarmament and peace talks, all come to naught until individual man, multiplied by the billions, so desires peace and spiritual love that he finds dissent, inharmony, jealousies, and conflict abhorrent to his God-centered soul. The responsibility for the new-age miracle of peace and spiritual love among men does not lie solely with world leaders. It lies with each person individually. He must desire it with such an all-consuming longing that he will listen attentively to his indwelling Christ and follow, through any and all experiences of life, whatever steps are needed to remove from his heart every tendency toward selfish expression. In the words of the Christ, he must "take up his cross and follow me"; that is, he must cross out from his entire consciousness all desire toward separation of himself from his fellow man.

Let us think about that and see how "righteous" we are in our righteousness.

EDITORIAL

October 22, 1969.

It is very clear that the assessment of the Gateway project started with $1,119,903 and was down to $305,255, in 1969-70. It is now up to $706,635. Gateway will not show any profit tax revenue to the city or county from the next 20 to 25 years because it has to first be built up to the $1,119,903 it was when it started. Only after that can it begin to pay off the bond of $1,700,000 at 6.9 percent interest.

It is one thing to be given million of dollars by the Federal government, but another thing to go in hock for millions that have to be repaid.

Haddad and his former cohorts are so million-happy, they are taking credit for spending millions they don't have to repay. They don't understand what it is going to take to repay $1,700,000 with 6.9 percent in Gateway for 20 years.

We need about $232,000 in tax revenue in Gateway over and above normal taxes on the irginial $1,119,903 before we can start paying off the bond. So, if all we get now, according to Haddad, is $442,000 and, still according to Haddad, if assessed values were $40,000,000 the city would get $680,000 for approximately 20 years. $232,000 of this woul have to go to repay the Gateway bond, so what has any citizen gained? Many of us including Haddad won't be around to see a sound city government

Council members Carey, McGrath, Murray and Ross are being attacked to give spendthrift "hand-out Lou" a new election, so he can stay in power. In power to do what-keep an urban renewal staff in jobs? Push through another urban renewal project-the Laguna Grande and bankrupt the city? That's what keeping Lou in office means. A bankrupt city where the tax payers have to ante up more money than normal operating taxes just to pay deficits which Haddad wants to build up.

I think we've had it Lou.

Completes Course

Army private John Rexroth, son of Mr. and Mrs. Art Rexroth, 248 Reindollar Avenue, Marina, recently completed a wheeled vehicle mechanic course at Ft. Ord.

During the seven-week course, he was trained to repair internal combustion engines and wheeled vehicle chassis components. Instruction was given in the fundamentals of electrical and transmission systems.

Private Rexroth is a 1968 graduate of Seaside High School.

Veteran enrollments in VA education programs for 1970 were up an unprecedented 31 percent over 1969.

Grooving Around the Peninsula

with Betty Mann

Hi there fellow Peninsulans

Ho Ho Hum! Whadda ya think about the fizzled out recall election that has flopped, after so many weeks of tongue lashings, ear-twisting, pavement pounding and door knocking, by Mr. B.J. Dolan's recall committee? My thoughts flash back to a statement that Mayor Haddad made, stating that Seaside is the laughing stock of the country.

Well, Mayor Haddad, Seaside is not the laughing stock of the country; you and your recall committee are the laughing stock! Seaside was somehow spared from this by the ineptness of your recall committee. It seems so unbelievable with all of the illogical efforts and the propaganda tactics that were spread in the news media, that somehow a simple mistake like Mr. B.J. Dolan, forgetting to sign his name legitimately, along with a few other discrepancies, would ruin the effort.

But, citizens of Seaside, these are the individuals who are trying to reorganize our city government and wish to rule our city! How can they organize a city when they couldn't even organize an election properly (hum)? I guess our Mayor's hot temper is showing, right about now. (smile)

While I'm on the subject, I must mention the propaganda that the new little newspaper in Seaside, the Community News, has spread. How ironical that this paper sprouted up from obscurity, just at the time the recall election was beginning to form. On every page was Mayor Haddad and the wonders he has performed for the city of Seaside, as if he had done it all alone, without anyone else in the city government helping??? There were the evils of Murray, McGrath, Carey and Ross, almost on every page and in every issue. The paper evidently was a Haddad sponsored project, (as always) (smile).

Oh well, dear readers, this happens sometimes in city governments when a mayor is allowed too much freedom of will. Read in your newspapers about the different mayors that are having problems by getting too involved with mixing politics and personal business interests. It was sort of humorous reading McGrath's statement in the Herald that Mayor Haddad's petition was kept out of sight when persons came up to sign the petition for the recall election. Well, all indications point to this as the truth since only 500 persons signed for Haddad to be recalled and the other council members were running neck and neck, each one with well over a 1000; come now lets all be for real!!

Other more pleasant past happenings over the New Year's holiday were: the very elegant and fashionable New Year's Eve parties given by two of our social clubs here in Seaside-the Cavaliers Club and the Strivers Club.

The Cavaliers were hosts to well over 300 guests at a very lovely, and enjoyable New Year's Eve ball that was held at the San Carlos Hotel. Each guest was seated at the table of her sponsering hostess, where they enjoyed a evening of cocktails, a buffet dinner and dancing to the Salt and Pepper Band which provided finger and toe popping music. I wish to personally thank my hostess Mrs. Ethel Ward, for inviting my spouse and I. We had a ball.

After departing from the Cavaliers ball the next stop was the Strivers gig at the fairgrounds, which was really rocking at this time. Over 500 persons attended this gala affair and by the looks of the crowd on the dance floor, the Capri's band was "sockin it to them."

Out at the NCO club at Ft. Ord three bands were playing in the ballroom, lounge and old dining room. The crowd looked sparse and tired. The floors were a mass of confetti and debris. It looked like someone might have had fun. (smile) I still can't figure out why the price of drinks was raised? You NCO's check that one out; the NCO club is not supposed to follow after the clubs downtown because its New Year's Eve. The NCO Club is supposed to be a non-profit organization for the benefit of the military.

After leaving the club at 3, we stopped by a party at the Tyrie Howard's home. They were extending cordial greetings and delicious soul food to their many friends who were dropping by from the Strivers dance.

On a little further, we stopped by Lee and Ethel Ward's and had a few more nitecaps. They were hosting their many friends at an after party following the dance at the San Carlos Hotel. Another late, late, party that was swinging in full blast was at the home of Richard and Marion Woodie on Lincoln St.

Whew! What a New Years Eve!

Untill Next Week

Betty

Receives Medal

He was presented the bronze star medal for distinguishing himself through meritorious service in connection with military operations against hostile forces in Vietnam. The medal, adopted in 1944, recognizes outstanding achievement.

Maj. Hagenhoff earned the award during his last assignment in Vietnam with 610th Maintenance Battalion. He entered the army in July 1961. He holds the army commendation medal.

The 31-year-old major received his B.S. and E.E. degrees from the University of Cincinnati (Ohio) in 1961.

His wife, Sally, lives in Marina.

CHRISTMAS NEWS

Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Black of Monterey held open house for their friends and neighbors on Christmas Day. Delicious food and cocktails were plentiful. Mr. Black, a retired MSG, spent more than 30 years of honorable service in the United States Army. Mrs. Black following a busy Christmas, went to Los Angeles to visit friends and relatives. While there, she attended the Delta Sigma Theta's annual formal ball, which was held in Long Beach.

The Guil Bautista family of Seaside also had an open house for their family and friends on Christmas Day. Many invited guests stopped in to enjoy the hospitality of the popular Bautista family.

AFTER NEW YEAR'S DINNER

Mr. and Mrs. G.C. Edwards of Seaside entertained friends during a Gumbo supper in their home on Saturday, January 3. Edwards, known by his friends as "Big Ed", is an expert in the preparation of foods. Guests of honor were CSM and Mrs. Wilbert Hopkins of Seaside.

MISS ROYSTER IS A BRIDE

Wanda Ann Royster and Michael Anthony Hickman were married in a ceremony at the Pacific Grove Courthouse conducted by Judge Richard C. Eldred on Monday, January 4.

The bride, daughter of SFC. and Mrs. Reuben Royster is a student at MPC. She graduated from Seaside High School in June 1970. Her father is presently serving a tour in Korea. Her mother resides in Seaside.

The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. George H. Hickman of Louisville, Kentucky, where he graduated from Shawnee High School prior to entering the United States Army. SP5 Hickman, assigned to Fort Ord, wil leave in February for a tour of duty in Vietnam.

For the ceremony, the bride wore a silk brocade princess style short dress. During the reception in the home of her parents for close friends and family, she wore a two piece gold ensemble of heavy linen.

LATE CHRISTMAS DINNER

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore R. Knight of Seaside hosted a late Christmas dinner in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Willie Rachal of Berkeley and their son, Lt. Leo Rachal of Fort Mommouth, New Jersey on January 3. The honored guests were unable to attend due to an accident enroute to Seaside. Fortunately, there were no serious injuries. However, the Knights continued with their 7 p.m. meal, which 25 guests attended.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Archeletter, Mr. and Mrs. Jessie Agpoon and Miss Dawn Marlowe of San Francisco; Miss Mary Clay and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Knighe of Oakland. Local guests attending were Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Collins, Mr. and Mrs. Abb Buckman, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hopkins, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Montford Lucas, Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Webb, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Lawson, Miss Kathryn Mason, Mrs. Wren Harper, Sr. and her children Gwen, Wren, Jr., and Reginald Harper. Willie Rachal is Mrs. Harper's brother.

OCTOBER WEDDING PLANNED

Hosting a special New Year's celebration for a small group of intimate friends and family, Mr. and Mrs. George Baxter of Seaside, announced the engagement of their daughter Linda Joyce to Kenneth Thomas Rose of San Francisco.

The bride-to-be, a former employee of the Defense Language Institute, West Coast is completing her fourth year of pre-law studies at San Francisco State College.

The future groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J.W. Johnson, presently residing in Roseburg, Oregon, after living for many years in Europe. Rose, who received his AB degree from California State College in Fullerton is employed as an Industrial Credit Analyst, while completing his final year of Law School in San Francisco.

Wedding date is tentatively set for October 23, 1971.

OUT OF TOWN GUESTS

Elder and Mrs. Olen Davis of Seaside were honored and delighted to have had Rev. and Mrs. Raymond Dixon of Amarillo, Texas visit with them during the New Year. Mrs. Dixon is a sister of Elder Davis, and her husband is the pastor of Long Star Baptist Church in Lubbock, Texas. The Dixons arrived on New Year's Eve for a two-week visit. They were kept busy viewing the picturesque peninsula. On January 2, SSG, and Mrs. Authur Johnson of Fort Ord, entertained the visitors in their home during a buffet supper. Assisting with the preparations were the Johnson's two attractive teenage daughters, Rochelle and Camille The young set are both students at Seaside High School. Other guest attending were Mary L. Cleveland, Doreen Mahaney, Ann Haley, Elder and Mrs. Olen Davis and Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Hall, all of Seaside.

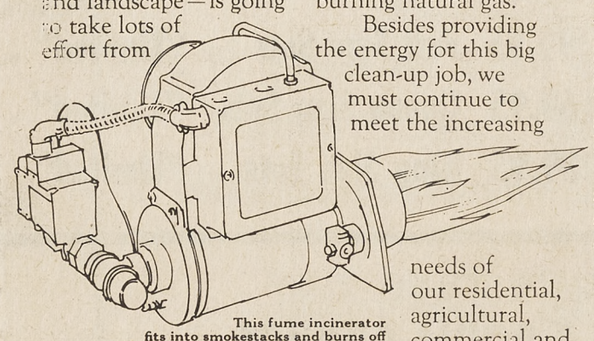
Environmental housecleaning will require lots of energy.

Cleaning up the environment—the air, water and landscape—is going to take lots of effort from all of us, and lots of energy.



This fume incinerator fits into smokestacks and burns off particles and odors in industrial smoke. An effective way to fight air pollution, it is operated by clean-burning natural gas.

PG&E will have to supply much of this energy. Tools for the job such as air pollution abatement systems, waste recycling plants, sewage disposal facilities and rapid transit systems must be powered by electricity or clean-burning natural gas.

Besides providing the energy for this big clean-up job, we must continue to meet the increasing needs of our residential, agricultural, commercial and industrial customers.

This calls for substantial additions to our power generating resources and gas supplies.

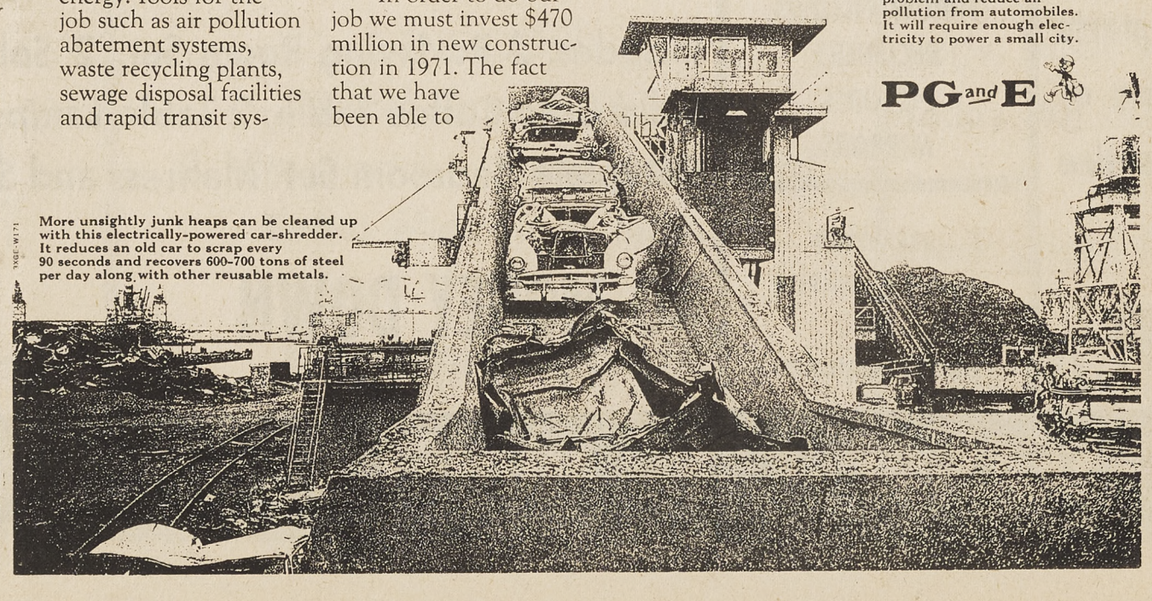
In order to do our job we must invest $470 million in new construction in 1971. The fact that we have been able to build ahead in the past has assured you of reliable utility service here, while in some other parts of the nation people have suffered the inconvenience and high economic loss of power shortages.

In planning ahead we are designing our new facilities to meet the highest environmental standards.

These new facilities will do more than assure you of continuing reliable service with environmental protection. They will also create new jobs, bolster the economy and add new tax income for local schools and governmental services.

The Bay Area Rapid Transit System is expected to help solve a major urban traffic problem and reduce air pollution from automobiles. It will require enough electricity to power a small city.

PG and E



More unsightly junk heaps can be cleaned up with this electrically-powered car-shredder. It reduces an old car to scrap every 90 seconds and recovers 600-700 tons of steel per day along with other reusable metals.

EXTENSIVE
PG&E operates more than 86,000 miles of power lines. This is one of the nation's most extensive single company systems.

Changes Are Made At Fort Ord

Fort Ord already has adopted innovations which may be among many changes during a test here of the Modern Volunteer concept.

Fort Benning, Georgia, and Fort Carson, Colorado, also have been selected by Department of the Army as test installations.

The concept of the test is to enhance the attractiveness of Army life and provide both professional challenge and personal reward for soldiers who enlist.

Details of the proposal have not been completely developed. Individual programs adopted initially will be under close scrutiny as time goes on and ultimately may be either discarded, adopted or modified.

Many of the ideas can be implemented by Army authorities. Others, however, such as pay increases and incentives, require Congressional action. For example, one of the ideas advanced to attract men to enlist in the combat arms such as Infantry, Artillery or Armor, is additional pay over the normal scale.

As an outgrowth of studies that were started at Fort Ord by Major General Phillip B. Davidson, Jr., commander, in July 1969, some of the measures that fall within the Volunteer Army concept are currently in effect. Others have been approved and are in the progress of adoption. Here is a partial run-down:

A five-day work week will become effective in January.

Reveille formations have been abolished. The length and frequency of other formations have been reduced or eliminated.

The feeding of "brunch" type meals on weekends and holidays is being implemented.

In additon to regular menus, a daily "short order" menu is being established with extended meal periods to permit consumption by personnel who desire them.

Trainees have been authorized to wear civilian clothes during offduty hours (including the evening meal in mess halls). Incidentally, the term "trainee" will be phased out; all will be referred to as "soldiers."

Over-night pass privileges have been liberalized. Until recently, men were restricted to the post during the 8-week basic training period.

Post exchanges and the commissary have been operating seven days a week and on specific days remain open for night shoppong.

Expanded laundry service has been provided.

On a test basis, carbonated beverages were served in several Fort Ord mess halls, in addition to milk, coffee, tea and chocolate drinks. The innovation was well accepted by the troops and this service will provided throughout.

Although partitioning of barracks must await funding authorization, enlisted NCOs and specialists now are allowed to furnish their rooms at their own expense, virtually without restriction as to arrangement.

When partitioning in the barracks begins, on an experimental basis, it is proposed that each two-man cubicle will have a desk, chair, lamp, rug and ceiling light and electrical outlet.

Maximum utilization is being made of local civilian educational programs and future plans envision the inclusion of senior level college courses that would provide "in residence" credits.

The "open door" policy has been stressed from the lowest to the highest level of authority (including the commanding general) to allow each soldier to speak directly within the chain of command.

New are procedures and actions being studied here to intensify the attractive features of Army service.

To achieve the ultimate objective, Fort Ord will rely primarily on a program that is professionally challenging and personally rewarding.

While maximum effort will be made to make the life of the soldier comfortable and free from unnecessary irritants, the ingredients to create a combat-ready soldier, including high standards of discipline and performance, will be intensely maintained.

CIVIL SERVICE OPPORTUNITIES

By Janet Browning

If you want an opportunity to hold a job with the Civil Service, go to the office to pick up your application for a Civil Service test, which are given on specific dates.

It doesn't hurt to take it; you might discover that you have the skill needed for a good paying job. It also determines your ability and skill in certain fields. It has a future and gives you a chance to find out what you can do. So take a little trip to the office and go pick up an application and booklet that is available for additional information on the test, you'll find its a good deal. The next test is in February, so hurry!!!

COLD WEATHER HITS SEASIDE HIGH

By Toni Pierce

I am one of the hundreds of freezing students who attend this icebox (Seaside High). As you walk along the hall the cold winds hits you. I have never seen so many chapped hands in my life. Gloves and mittens are back in style. Scarves and hats are everywhere. Pants, kneesocks and tights are seen on lots of girls. Despite the weather, the students of Seaside High are still seen outside enjoying life.

NO GRADING EDUCATIONAL SYSTEM

By Mary Untalan

In today's ever changing world, we find many different changes in our everyday living. One familiar topic which is constantly changing is the educational system.

Education in some states are improving to keep up with the growing number of students and ideals. One such improvement is being made in the grading system -- the complete removal of grades.

A "no grade system" would elimate many hardships students find in school. Forcing out many unnecessary subjects such as writing and reading, that make the educational system obsolete.

Students would learn withoug the burden of receiving low grades, competing with classmates and just the idea of learning for a grade alone.

Learning should not be a competative sport because each student is unique.

In my opinion, school with a no grading system would change today's present educational system into what it has tried to be -- a place of learning.

FOREIGN LANGUAGES IN HIGH SCHOOL

By Chris

Wouldn't it be great if you could study any language you wanted to in high school? Many students would like to study the language of their choice, but it's impossible at the moment. There doesn't seem to be the right teachers to do the job. Several students would like to take Greek, Hebrew, Russian, Chinese, Japanese, etc. More students would be taking the classes all four years instead of two because they have a choice, but not there are only a few and if there were the wild combination we would have a beautiful set up. Meanwhile while we're looking for the special day for all types of foreign languages to be taught in high school, we will just have to stick with the boring classes.

SUMMONS (MARRIAGE)

To the Respondent: LEAVARY H. DAVIDSON

The petitioner has filed a petition concerning your marriage. You may file a written response within thirty days of the date that this summons is served on you. If you fail to file a written response within such time, your default may be entered and the court may enter a judgment containing injunctive or other orders concerning division of property, spousal support, child custody, child support, attorneys' fees, costs, and such other relief as may be granted by the court.
If you wish to seek the advice of an attorney in this matter, you should do so promptly so that your written response, if any, may be filed on time.
Dated: October 14, 1970.

Meaning of Life Is Topic

What life really means in the light of the Christianity taught by Christ Jesus will be considered Sunday at services on the Monterey Peninsula beginning at 11 a. m.

The Lesson - Sermon on "Life" contains these words of the Master Christian: "The thief cometh not, but for to steal, and to kill, and to destroy: I am come that they might have life, and that they might have it more abundantly."

A supporting passage from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy states:

"Through the magnitude of his human life, he demonstrated the divine life.

Out of the amplitude of his pure affection, he defined Love. With the affluence of Truth, he vanquished error. The world acknowledged not his righteousness, seeing it not; but earth received the harmony his glorified example introduced

Questions and Answers

Q -- I'm a World War II veteran who has never received benefits from the VA. May I get a free examination from the VA for a potential employer?

A -- No, the VA is not allowed to give a free medical examination for a private purpose.

* War veterans with limited incomes are entitled to a VA pension if they are permanently and totally disabled, even though the disability may not be service-related. For pension purposes, veterans are considered to be permanently and totally disabled when they reach age 65.

* Whether or not they served during war or peacetime, veterans 65 or older may be admitted to VA hospitals without having to sign a statement relating to their inability to pay.

Q -- I receive compensation from the VA. Are my children eligible for educational assistance?

A Unless you are 100 percent permanently disabled from a service-connected cause, your children are not entitled to educational assistance.

Q -- I'm a World War II veteran who has not used by GI loan eligibility. May I use it now?

A -- Under a recent law, GI loan benefits are now available indefinitely to Korean Conflict and World War II veterans who did not use them earlier.

Commander Seeks Master's At Postgraduate School

An officer here says the Navy is fulfilling two needs frequently advanced by black leaders--increased education for blacks and the opportunity to use that education in responsible positions.

Furthermore, the Navy is willing to do more, according to 31-year old Lieutenant Commander Harold A. Walton, who is studying for a master's degree in oceanography at the Naval Postgraduate School.

Walton points out that his sea duty has been with anti-submarine warfare ships and minesweepers. These are small Navy ships which engage in operations where a greater knowledge of oceanography has direct applications.

Walton's degree program requires 35 quarter hours of graduate courses and a thesis topic approved by the school's oceanography department.

Before he entered the program, he was admitted to the engineering science program, a semi-preparatory and testing program for officers wanting to enroll in a highly technical field.

"We get courses directly related to anti-submarine warfare here," Walton said, "as a part of the oceanography curriculum." He is hopeful that his next assignment will be a command or staff position with the same kinds of ships to which he has been assigned.

Walton reported to the school from the minesweeper USS Engage, where he had been assigned as executive officer.

He is a graduate of De La Salle Academy, a high school in Newport, Rhode Island Morgan State College, Baltimore, where he received his B.S. in physics.

When he was graduated from Officer's Candidate School in February 1962, he reported to the destroyer escort USS Wiseman where his primary duty was as Main Propulsion Assistant in the engineering department.

From there he served aboard USS Charles Berry as the First Lieutenant and Gunnery Officer. He was the Anti-Submarine Warfare Officer for USS Mitscher before reporting to the Engage.

Walton says the degree in oceanography will give him a "sub-specialty." If the Navy organization of tomorrow develops as Walton feels it will, officers with "sub-specialties" will be in demand. Because of that, he is convinced that the Navy still has a lot in store for him. "A lot of this job is just using common sense," Walton says.

Apparently it has worked well for him--his last skipper recommended him for a command position.

Will postgraduate education be helpful to further advancement? "Perhaps not immediately," Walton says, "but I feel that any education will help me do my job. By the 1980's and maybe even by the late 1970's, I think it will become more and more a factor in the selection process."

Rear Admiral Robert W. McNitt, superintendent of the Post graduate School, echoes Walton's ideas. He contends that "the Navy has always given preference in assignments and promotions to tough-minded officers who have demonstrated a mastery of practical professional knowledge and the intellectual competence to attack and solve new and unfamiliar problems.

"The officer who has the good fortune to attend the Naval Postgraduate School will acquire a thorough understanding of the forces around him and his ability to control and shape them to useful ends, a greater potential for future service at sea and ashore and the satisfaction and pleasure which comes from widened horizons and increased professional competence."

Walton feels that the educational background he receives at the Naval Postgraduate School will assure him of the career goal he set for himself years ago.

Walton's service dates to June 20, 1956, when, while still in high school, he joined the Naval Reserve Surface Division 5-35 at Newport.

Walton was in high school when he decided to try for a Navy career. His father, William H. Walton (U.S.N. Fleet Reserve) is a 22-year active duty Navyman who saw service at Pearl Harbor during the Japanese attack. It was through his father's service that the younger Walton became acquainted with the Navy's opportunities and limitations.

As for his expectations, Walton says that if he can "hack" it, he expects the Navy to give him responsible jobs. "I think I can handle it," he added, "I don't want anything given to me."
